Hi Glenn,

We are still working on your manuscript but unfortunately due to sicknesses and other immediate priorities, we will not be able to get your manuscript back to you as soon as I originally thought. We still have some hurdles to cross, but the hurdles are getting smaller and we should be able to easily negotiate them.

I will be out of the office next week, but we will make every effort possible to get the manuscript back to you that following week.

Thanks for your patience, (b)(3) CIAAct

Good morning.

I'm hopeful that you and your colleagues will have been able to address the, on the whole, few and minor outstanding points in my manuscript, Victims of Delusion. I would very much like to have the changes, if any, you propose, so that I can agree with them, or quickly find mutually acceptable changes. It is time for us to be done with this process, and I am confident that we can resolve any remaining points, literally in a matter of minutes. I cannot imagine that there could be any points that would pose any real obstacles now.

When can I have the manuscript? It is time. Let's wrap this up.

Thanks,

Glenn Carle
